

Ethan Diamond Mathematics Tutor

Ethan is a Mathematics graduate and exceptionally well-qualified tutor. With 7,000+ hours of tutoring experience, he has a significant pool of resources and expertise to draw upon. Whilst at university, Ethan spent a year studying computer science and now works as a Strategy Consultant, specialising in data and AI.

Mathematics

Further Mathematics

University of Birmingham: BSc Mathematics (with year of CompSci)

- Graduated with a first-class degree, achieving 80% (significantly above the 70% first class threshold)
- Ethan undertook an additional year of study dedicated to computer science, making the degree a four-year course. He specialised in software, AI and ML
- Outside of his studies, Ethan represented the University in Muay Thai boxing, competing nationally, and served as Vice President of the Investment Society

UNIVERSITY OF BIRMINGHAM

Experienced Tutor at Ethan Teaches Maths

- Extensive experience teaching mathematics and further mathematics at both GCSE and A-level, as well as standard and higher mathematics for the International Baccalaureate
- Teaching internship with Bishop Challoner Training School Alliance during the COVID pandemic, providing experience teaching mathematics to secondary school students of all abilities and ages
- Ethan has taught 7000+ lessons and has 170+ 5* reviews from his previous tutoring agencies

“My aim is to provide a comprehensive understanding of all the topics rather than just memorising methods. This tried and tested approach consistently enables my students to attain top grades. Once a starting point has been established, I use a mixture of exam and textbook questions to fully engage with the student. I have a wide range of resources and textbooks available which I teach and use to set homework at the end of every lesson. Homework is crucial to practice content covered in lessons, to develop a greater depth of understanding which, in turn, boosts grades”

“Ethan has been helping our eldest son with his A-level Maths since July 2022. Ethan has been doing an excellent job going through topics that our son has struggled with and always sets homework after lessons to help to consolidate the learning”

- Hilary, Parent

“I am really impressed with Ethan's dedication. It gives me confidence that he is doing his best for my child. The last mocks' results were proof of their hard work together - a jump of 2 grades!”

- Donna, Parent

“Well structured lessons and study plan. The approach to learning Ethan uses is very effective. He tends to test my knowledge first then explain and this has contributed to an increase in my confidence in my mathematical ability in a short span of time. The lessons are also always interactive, engaging and never boring, would definitely recommend”

- Qais, Student

Total hours worked: 7,000+

London, United Kingdom

At Ethan Teaches Maths, our tutors work to provide students with exceptionally crafted lessons and tailored resources. We see tutors as partners in our students' long-term educational success.

